

How to get Xforms working in Firefox

Xforms is a new and exciting technology for the web, however it is also an emerging technology. This carries with it the unfortunate consequence that very few web browsers have support for Xforms. Firefox is no exception, but it does have an extension available to provide Xforms. Follow the steps below to add this extension to your Firefox browser:

1. Open Firefox:
2. In your address bar, go to this page <https://addons.mozilla.org/en-US/firefox/addon/824>
3. There will be a large green button that says "Add to Firefox". Click it
4. On the window that appears, click the button "Install Now".
5. Firefox will ask to restart after the extension is installed. Do that now.
6. When it returns, Firefox will be ready to use Xforms. Congratulations!
